at G. D'annunzio University Chieti – Pescara

We are excited to welcome you to the 10 Days of INGENIUM at the
G. D'ANNUNZIO UNIVERSITY, CHIETI – PESCARA!

This guide includes all the key information about the city, the Campus, your accommodation, and how to get here.

We look forward to a fantastic week of learning, sharing, and connecting!

The 10 days of INGENIUM will take place in Chieti and in Pescara

Chieti

Chieti is amongst the most ancient of Italian cities. It originated as Teate, chief town of the Marrucini (an ancient Italic tribe), and was taken by the Romans in 305 BC. Destroyed by the barbarians and rebuilt by Theodoric the Ostrogoth king in the 6th century, it was successively a Lombard stronghold, a Norman county, and a possession of the Hohenstaufens, the Angevin dynasty (house of Anjou), the house of Aragon, and the Caracciolo. Its ancient name was applied to the religious order of the Theatines, founded in 1524 to combat Lutheranism and to reform morality. Roman monuments include the ruins of a theatre and of three small temples and the octagonal Church of Santa Maria del Tricalle, built on the site of the pagan temple of Diana Trivia.

The 11th-century cathedral, frequently rebuilt, has a Gothic bell tower (1335–1498). Chieti contains the National Museum of Archaeology, the Institute of Art, a theological university, and a provincial library and picture gallery.

According to mythological legends, the city was founded in 1181 B.C. by the Homeric Greek hero Achilles and was named in honor of his mother, Thetis.

Chieti is situated a few kilometers away from the Adriatic Sea, and with the Majella and Gran Sasso mountains in the background. It is divided into the old town on the homonymous hill and the more recent commercial and industrial area, which is called Chieti Scalo and has developed thanks to the Chieti railway station along the ancient layout of Romans Via Tiburtina.

Pescara

Pescara is a relatively modern city because the city was originally two small fishing villages, which were merged by the fascist government in 1927.

The river Pescara that divides the city into North and South as it flows down from the mountains has also shaped the city's history.

The city is attracting an increasing number of visitors who enjoy swimming in the warm waters of the Adriatic and finding a tasty seafood lunch down by the harbour in one of the fisherman's huts/restaurants. Others adore picking up some designer names in the city centre, before reclining with a coffee in the elegant Piazza della Rinascita. And there are those who can barely wait for the sun to set before hitting the cocktail bar and the beach-side nightclubs.

The “GABRIELE d'ANNUNZIO” UNIVERSITY, CHIETI – PESCARA

The University was established in 1965 as a ‘Libera Università’ (non state-owned university) and became state-owned in 1982.

Today, it has 13 Departments and 2 Schools.

There are two university campuses: Chieti, registered office of the university with the offices of the Rector and of General Directorate and Pescara.

Weather

The weather in Pescara is usually quite pleasant at the end of May, so you might get the chance to enjoy the beach — don't forget your swimsuit and towel!

That said, due to the well-known effects of climate change, it might be sunny and lovely one day, and rainy the next. So be sure to bring a raincoat and an umbrella, just in case. You might not need them at all, but better safe than sorry!

Temperatures in May typically range from an average low of 16°C to a high of 26°C.

Photography

Partner organizations will take video and photograph throughout the duration of the activities. Pictures will be shared on partners. Please advise us if you are okay with sharing your pictures with you on it.

Dress Code

Business casual. Two outdoor activities are foreseen. We suggest to bring with you hiking shoes and outdoor outfit.
